In autumn in hot climate

- secondary school students in Spain

Secondary school students from Słupia Jędrzejowska took part in the partnership school project meeting

A group of Roman Czernecki Secondary School students was invited by Institut Pere Vives Vich in Igualada in Spain. They participated in international partnership school project meeting.

This project is being carried out in the framework of Partnership Schools Comenius Project. Secondary School in Słupia was represented by two teachers Katarzyna Stepień - project coordinator , Małgorzata Szwaja – Science subjects teacher and four students Marta Sobczyk, Justyna Wcisło, Paulina Bratek and Patryk Raczyński.

The meeting was also attended by representatives of the five schools from Spain, Romania, Italy, Turkey and Greece. During the stay in Spain, teachers and students had the opportunity to visit some interesting places. Throughout their stay in Igualada students were meeting with their peers, visiting museums, went on a trip to the mountains and even learned how to dance the Catalan type of dance.

I visited beautiful places. I got to know the taste of exotic fruits. I saw olive trees, palm planted avenues. I felt in late autumn warm summer air. I am very happy with the family with whom I lived. My friend Elena is warm and optimistic person. Her family is unique. Even for a moment I didn't feel that I was in a strange house. These people are warm, the climate of the country is filled with feelings of warmth and kindness. I have not found in the English language many words to thank them, even in the Polish language it is difficult to find the words- Paulina reminds her stay in Spain.
